Would you raise kids downtown?

Deputy mayor not keen on urban child-rearing. Doug Holyday insists the city isn't a suitable place to live with children

Downtown Toronto — a bad place to raise a family?

Sybil Wa doesn't think so.

That's what the mother of three, who lives in a condo near Yonge Street and the Esplanade, said following Deputy Mayor Doug Holyday's comments that downtown isn't a suitable place to live with children.

Holyday, a former Etobicoke mayor who lives doors down from his grandchildren in a house on a "very quiet" suburban street, made the comments as he argued against forcing a condo developer to include family-friendly three-bedroom units in a proposed 47-storey building at King Street West and John Street.

"Where will these children play — on King Street?" Holyday asked.

But Wa, who lives in a condo with her husband, Adam Parkin, and children, who are 10, six and two, said raising kids downtown is safe — and convenient.

Wa is part of a generation of young families choosing to stay in the city and take advantage of its amenities. In her building at Yonge and Esplanade alone, there are 40 other families doing the same.

Their reasons vary from sustainability to accessibility of cultural activities, but Wa says they all want a lot of the same things: improved city policies that take into account the growing population of families like theirs.

She called Holyday's comments provocative.

To jeers from other councilors, Holyday said: "I mean, I could just see now: 'Where's little Ginny?' 'Well, she's downstairs playing in the traffic on her way to the park.'"

Holyday, whose proposal was defeated 27-4, was unrepentant in comments to reporters during the meeting's lunch break.

"There are healthier places to raise children," he said.

Complex, diverse life downtown

Let us know what you think of Holyday's comments on Twitter @metrotoronto. Here's what others had to say:

@banana1312
Toronto as a whole is no place to raise children — particularly not under this administration!

@leopard044
it depends on the family and their needs. I believe downtown has wide variety of activities for children to be involved in.

@_JessicaOrton
I think he is right, everywhere you go downtown are panhandlers or shelters, and it always smells like urine.

@therealjorhan offers a complex, #diverse life experience to all. #Toronto is great for #families & #singles, wo question.

Food carts get OK to expand menus

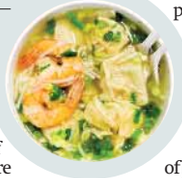
Street food. Changes come into effect once current council meeting ends

City council unanimously approved a new policy Thursday that will allow current food-cart vendors to sell several new items, including soup, coffee, tea and a number of pre-cooked and pre-packaged items, in addition to hotdogs and sausages.

Some vendors interviewed by the Torstar News Service are hesitant to change their menus, citing a lack of money to expand and a worry that customers won't bite at the new offerings.

Coming soon to a street near you

- Pre-packaged cut fruits and vegetables using only vinaigrette dips.
- Whole fruits and vegetables, including corn on the cob.
- Pre-packaged fruit salad.
- Pre-packaged salads containing only vegetables and/or fruits with all dressings to be pre-packaged and not requiring refrigeration.
- Bagels with individual serving containers of butter, margarine, peanut butter or jam.
- Pre-packaged nuts and seeds.
- Pre-packaged Tabbouleh salad and pita bread.
- Soups.
- Pre-cooked veggie burgers.
- Coffees and teas.



Peter Karopoulos, who works at a stand at Queen Street West and Bay Street, said he likes the idea of giving customers more choice but many vendors can't afford to expand.

Adding more items will also slow down the vending process, he said.

"People want (food) in 30 seconds delivered. "Customers will get fed up eventually."

Other vendors, like Saied Sharafinik, plan to take advantage of the new policy. He'll probably add pre-cooked veggie burgers and soup to his menu.

A lack of water supply to his cart, which is only steps from Nathan Phillips Square, makes offering coffee or tea more difficult.

"We need (a lot of) power for that."

Budgets

Council votes to ease rules on office spending

Mayor Rob Ford says his early-term success in persuading councillors to cut their office budgets from $50,000 to $30,000 is one of his proudest accomplishments. But those councillors defied Ford on Wednesday to allow themselves to spend thousands more.

Over Ford's strong objection, council voted to have constituency offices and cellphone expenses paid for from a general council budget rather than from each councillor's individual budget. They also voted to dip into the general budget to allow each councillor to spend "an amount equivalent to the cost of postage or delivery by other means of one newsletter to all households within the ward."

And they approved an annual inflationary increase for the individual budgets. At the current low rate of inflation, 1.2 per cent, they will each get a bump of $360 next year for a total cost to taxpayers of $15,840.

The constituency office change is most significant. Ford argued that taxpayers would be on the hook for an additional $528,000, since each of the 44 councillors would theoretically rent a new office for $12,000 in rent per year.

But the scenario he outlined is unlikely, at least in the short term. Most councillors who rent occasional cheap space in civic centres are likely to do so. Other councillors are likely to continue to rent no extra space. And some councillors already rent space in commercial buildings.

Tel-Talk. Art-adorned phone booth goes up in flames

It was meant to ignite conversation.

Instead, art adorning a telephone booth in the Junction literally ignited when a vandal set it on fire July 1.

The booth, at Dundas Street West and Pacific Street, was part of Tel-Talk, a series of art installations decorating phone booths across Toronto. It had been created by women at the Evangeline women's shelter, in collaboration with the Red Wagon artists' collective.

"After the women put all this work, put their heart and thoughts into it, somebody just took it away," said Marlene Stickings, a member of the women's group that hand-crafted a dream-catcher for the booth. "It's disrespectful."

Man breaks into home near York U

A 22-year-old woman living in a rented home across from York University was awakened by an intruder in her third-floor bedroom Thursday morning.

Police say the intruder likely entered the home just before 5 a.m. through the rooftop balcony connected to her room. The incident is being investigated as a break-and-enter with the intent to rob.

The suspect is described as a black male in his late teens, about five-foot-eight, thin, with short stubby dreadlocks.

Bear. Dog feared stolen found in Caledon, owner says

Bear the dog has been found.

Alec Armstrong, Bear's owner, said his dog was found on the side of the road in Caledon, four days after he was reportedly stolen off an Indian Road porch.

"I'm just going to take him home and give him water and make sure he's OK," said Armstrong, 24, on his way home from the Caledon Animal Shelter Thursday.

Armstrong, a cook in the Roncesvalles Avenue area, is convinced his black, four-year-old Labrador/border collie/German shepherd mix was stolen by someone with the intention of breeding him, but was dumped when it was discovered Bear was a mixed breed.

The Caledon Animal Shelter confirmed Bear was at the shelter Thursday morning.

Bear the dog has been found, says his owner Alec Armstrong.

2 WEEKS

Tanner Zurkoski gives us an update at the halfway point in his month-long experiment to live in a car as part of the Move: Transportation Expo

LIVING IN A CAR

toronto@metronews.ca

Tanner enjoys a slice of pizza as Metro News staff gather to ask questions. DAVID VAN DYKE/METRO

After two weeks, how are you feeling?

I've got a much shorter temper. My nerves are a bit frayed and it takes a lot less to set me off. Constant exposure to downtown traffic for 12 hours a day has made me develop some road rage.

Is it lonely in the car?

It is harder for me to wrangle friends. The novelty is gone for them. I have to go further into the recesses of my contact list. I think I'm down to acquaintances now.

What happens at mealtime?

Thankfully I haven't had to do many drive-thru trips, only three times at this point. Another thing I do is park outside of a restaurant, call them and try to get them to come out to take my order. Or I start up conversations with people on the street and then eventually say 'Hey, here's $10, can you go get me a foot-long turkey club?'

The car broke down. What happened?

I knocked a wire loose with my foot — apparently your foot is not supposed to go that far into the car! That wire was connected to the (AutoShare communication box) and that box is linked into the engine and the doors. Once that wire is disconnected the car goes into 'I'm being stolen' mode, so it wouldn't start.

It's electric

While his Honda was being fixed, Tanner got to test drive two electric cars.

- Mitsubishi i-MiEV: "Really fun to drive; like a go-cart. It's a cute car but a bit small for me."
- Nissan Leaf: "Looks and feels like a real car, but it is absolutely silent. The only sound you hear are the tires on the road."

Move over suburbs, meet Huburbia

Hey Toronto, your neighbour Vaughan is on the move.

To fight highway congestion, the city is looking to go from suburbia to huburbia by becoming a "mobility hub."

The idea is explored at the Huburbia exhibit, which can be seen at the Move: Transportation Expo at the Evergreen Brick Works until Oct. 28.

The exhibit shows a transit-oriented city that includes energy efficient buildings and vehicles, lots of greenery and pedestrian space, as well as art installations and retail stores.

The Toronto-York-Spadina subway extension, to be completed in 2015, and new Viva Bus Rapid Transit that is set to run east to west in Vaughan are just the beginning.

Jim Gough, the Huburbia team's transportation expert said that the goal is to offer choice. "(That's) sustainable choice — so that people can live here and work somewhere else, or vice versa, and be able to live, work and play — without needing to use a car," he said.

If sprawling conditions continue, it is estimated that delays experienced by drivers will increase 300 per cent over the next 30 years.

According to Statistics Canada, 61 per cent of people living in a central neighbourhood make at least one car trip a day, compared to 73 per cent for those living 10 to 14 kilometres away and 81 per cent for those living further then 25 kilometres.

Slow removal makes for interesting backdrop

Tourists relax on rocks in front of the Costa Concordia wreckage on the Giglio Island, Italy, on Thursday. Work has begun to remove the tons of rocky reef embedded into the cruise ship's hull, a first step in plans to eventually tow the wreck away from the island, where it ran aground last January. The whole removal process could take as long as a year. In a broadcast interview Tuesday, Concordia's captain Francesco Schettino described the collision as a "banal accident" in which "destiny" played a role. GREGORIO BORGIA|THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Penn officials neglected child victims' safety: New report

Penn State coach Joe Paterno.
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Joe Paterno and other top Penn State officials hushed up child sex abuse allegations against Jerry Sandusky more than a decade ago for fear of bad publicity, allowing the former assistant football coach to prey on other youngsters, according to a scathing report issued Thursday on the scandal.

"Our most saddening and sobering finding is the total disregard for the safety and welfare of Sandusky's child victims by the most senior leaders at Penn State," said former FBI Director Louis Freeh, who was hired to look into one of sports' biggest scandals.

After an eight-month investigation, Freeh's firm produced a 267-page report that concluded that the Hall of Fame coach, President Graham Spanier, athletic director Tim Curley and vice-president Gary Schultz "repeatedly concealed critical facts relating to Sandusky's child abuse."

The sexual abuse might have been prevented. Despite their knowledge of the 1998 police probe into Sandusky showering with a boy in a football locker-room, Spanier, Paterno, Curley and Schultz took no action to limit his access to campus, the report said.

Simon Whitfield named Canada's Olympic flag-bearer

Curse or blessing?
Triathlete declares that leading the Canadian team into London 2012 opening ceremonies will not be a burden

Some consider it a jinx, others too much of a distraction, but Simon Whitfield says being Canada's flag-bearer will be his secret weapon.

The 37-year-old triathlete will lead the Canadian team into the opening ceremonies at the London Olympics later this month.

Whitfield won a gold medal for Canada at the 2000 Sydney Games where triathlon made its Olympic debut, and then captured a silver at the 2008 Beijing Games.

And the native of Kingston, Ont., suggested Thursday after being introduced as flag-bearer that the honour of carrying the Maple Leaf will help him reach the podium once again.

Debunking the myth

"It's so last century to say that it's a jinx."

Canadian Olympian Simon Whitfield responds to questions about whether being the Olympic flag-bearer is unlucky

Canada's flag-bearer for the 2010 Winter Olympics was Clara Hughes, who went on to win a bronze medal in speed-skating.

At the 2008 Beijing Games, kayaker Adam van Koeverden won a silver medal in the 500 metres after carrying the flag, though he also finished a disappointing eighth in the 1,000.

Diver Alexandre Despatie had also been considered a contender to be named flag-bearer but said recently he would decline the offer because it was a distraction.

The opening ceremonies are July 27 and Whitfield will compete on Aug. 7.

Letdown in London.
Problems mount for hosts ahead of summer Olympiad

With the Olympics just two weeks away, embarrassing logistical problems about security, staff, phones and traffic made the mood Thursday in London as gloomy as the weather.

British lawmakers clamoured for an explanation why the armed forces need to field more troops to protect the Games, eclipsing the day that U.S. track star Michael Johnson held the Olympic flame aloft at sunrise at the ancient monument at Stonehenge.

London's aging infrastructure kept offering up unpleasant surprises as the main road near Heathrow Airport remained closed following emergency repairs.

The British mobile-phone company O2, meanwhile, acknowledged that thousands of customers had been affected by outages on its network — a bad omen ahead of the first iPhone games.

London's Hyde Park — the site of outdoor concerts and other live events — has trucked in piles of wood chips to cover a muddy quagmire after the wettest June on record. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

What not to bring to London 2012

Heading to the London Olympics? Enjoy yourself — but please leave the pets, the fireworks and the big hat behind.

London organizers have published a list of items prohibited at venues for the July 27 to Aug. 12 Olympic Games.

The list tells visitors not to bring "large golf-style umbrellas," which could restrict others' view, and "oversized hats," for the same reason.

Also barred are "excessive amounts of food." Noise-hating visitors will be relieved to find "hunting horns, air horns, klaxons, drums, vuvuzelas and whistles" on the banned list. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An Olympic first

Saudi Arabia's team includes female athletes

Saudi Arabia will send two female athletes to the London Olympics, ending the ultraconservative Muslim country's record of fielding only all-male teams at the games.

The decision, announced Thursday by the IOC, means every country competing in London will include women athletes for the first time in Olympic history.

The two female Saudi competitors are judo athlete Wodjan Ali Seraj Abdulrahim Shahrkhani and 800-metre runner Sarah Attar.

Fuel truck. Explosion kills at least 95 people in Nigeria's Rivers State

A truck carrying fuel veered off the road into a ditch, caught fire and exploded in Nigeria's oil-rich delta on Thursday, killing at least 95 people who had rushed to the scene to scoop fuel that had spilled, an official said, in a tragic reminder of how little of the country's oil wealth has trickled down to the poor.

At least 50 others were injured in the incident in the southern Niger Delta region, said Rivers State spokeswoman Ibim Semenitari.

Witnesses said some charred corpses were still lying in the area hours after the explosion, including bodies the size of children. "What did these small ones know about coming to scoop fuel?" wondered Alagoa Morris, co-ordinator at advocacy group Oil Watch Nigeria.

He said some women wailed at the scene of the explosion, desperately looking for their relatives. The location of some of the bodies suggested that they were trying to run away when fire consumed them, Morris added.

"How can people who have enough to eat scoop oil that belongs to someone else?" said Morris. "It is poverty."

The fuel truck was trying to avoid a head-on collision with buses when it swerved into the ditch Thursday morning, said police spokesman Ben Ugwuegbulam. It then overturned, leaving its fuel to spill and people immediately swarmed to the scene. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Missing prosperity

Despite decades as an oil producing region, the majority of those living in the Niger Delta remain desperately poor and mostly without access to proper medical care, education or work.

- Anger over the situation on several occasions has driven young people to attack foreign oil firms based there, and steal fuel from pipelines.
- The OPEC member now pumps out about 2.4 million barrels of oil a day, making it Africa's biggest producer.

French Alps. Avalanche kills 9 European climbers, injures a dozen more

They set out before dawn, hoping to conquer a mountaineering classic: Mont Blanc, Western Europe's highest peak. But below the prized summit, a climber is believed to have accidentally caused a slab of ice to snap off, triggering an avalanche Thursday that swept nine climbers to their deaths and injured a dozen others.

As the sheet of snow and ice thundered down the steep slope, several other climbers managed to turn away from the slide in time, regional authorities in Haute-Savoie said.

Two climbers were rescued as emergency crews using dogs and helicopters scoured the churned-up, high-altitude area in a frantic search for the missing. Three Britons, three Germans, two Spaniards and one Swiss climber were among the dead.

Early summer storms left behind heavy snow that combined with high winds to form dangerous overhanging conditions on some of the popular climbing routes around Mont Blanc. Regional authorities had warned climbers to be careful because of an unusually snowy spring. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jewellers plead guilty to illegal ivory sales in N.Y.C.

Commercialization of wildlife. More than $2 million in elephant ivory seized

Two jewellers peddled reams of ivory bangles, beads and statues made from the tusks of endangered and threatened elephants, prosecutors said Thursday as the men admitted to a wildlife crime.

Mukesh Gupta, Johnson Jung-Chien Lu and their companies pleaded guilty to illegal commercialization of wildlife, forfeited a combined total of more than $2 million US in ivory and paid a total of $55,000 to aid the Wildlife Conservation Society's efforts to help elephants.

The jewellers' lawyers emphasized that the men admitted only to selling and offering ivory without a permit, establishing it came from before the animals were protected in the 1970s.

Two New York jewelry-store owners pleaded guilty to selling and offering for sale illegal elephant ivory with a retail value of more than $2 million US Thursday. BEBETO MATTHEWS/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

But authorities and conservation experts said that much of the ivory was doubtless more recent and that stocking it in stores in Manhattan's diamond district inherently contributes to a worrisome boom in the illegal ivory trade.

"Poachers should not have a market in Manhattan," District Attorney Cyrus R. Vance Jr. said at a news conference, standing before a table strewn with sized ivory rings, bracelets, complete tusks — and little carved figurines of the elephants from which authorities say it all came.

"If we only look at this issue as, 'Hey, I didn't have a permit,' and you ignore the consequences, you are fuelling the trade of wildlife crime. You are encouraging and fostering the extinction of species." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Supreme Court reins in array of copyright fees

Rights levy. Top court rules on five different cases involving tariffs set by the Copyright Board

The Supreme Court of Canada has reined in the application of copyright fees levied on music, movies, video games and printed materials that Canadians download and copy in different ways. The top court examined five different cases at once that touched on tariffs set by the Copyright Board.

One of the biggest cases involved ministers of education and school boards from across the country versus Access Copyright. The two sides had butted heads at the Copyright Board over how much schools had to pay for the right to photocopy parts of books for students.

In a 5-4 decision, the Court found that the Copyright Board had incorrectly treated teachers differently when they photocopied materials for their students, "driving an artificial wedge into these unified purposes of instruction and research/private study."

The four other cases involved the layering on of fees for works based on the way they are transmitted to the consumer.

The court decided unanimously that there should be no copyright fees levied on cable companies or other digital providers when music is downloaded, but that artists should be compensated when it is streamed online.

The music downloading and streaming decision was linked to another one that dealt with software companies that sell their video games online. The court found in a 5-4 decision that those firms shouldn't pay royalties for the music that's featured in those video games every time a consumer downloads a product online.

Finally, cable and other Internet providers should not have to pay fees when music downloaders listen to previews of songs. The court found unanimously that those previews constituted research and therefore did not infringe the Copyright Act.

Earnings. Canadian banks under pressure

Canada's biggest banks are taking a closer look at ways to reduce their expenses this summer as they prepare for slower earnings growth, according to a new report from Barclays.

Analyst John Aiken, who released a broad overview of the country's banking industry on Thursday, said that cost controls are near the top of the list for the industry as it grapples with tighter revenues.

The banks will look at ways to make their technical operations more efficient to save time and money, but if that doesn't create enough savings, jobs could be in jeopardy, he suggested.

"If this environment continues, you may need to see some more dramatic cost-cutting measures put in place," Aiken said in an interview.

However, Aiken said that some banks are looking at routes such as changing variable compensation structures to defer some payments, rather than simply the more immediate relief of cutting jobs.

"Process improvement to create more efficiencies ... will take a longer time frame to reap the expected benefits," he noted.

Bank of Montreal chief executive Bill Downe highlighted the bank's continuing plans to lower costs across its operations as part of a long-term review that examines all of its businesses.

Some of those savings will be recognized through the closure of 24 of its U.S. BMO Harris bank branches in the U.S. Midwest, which is expected to trim $300 million US — though integration and restructuring costs are expected to be $600 million over the next few years.

National Bank and Royal Bank were also vocal about their cost-management plans.

The report said that TD Bank is likely to spend more attention on compensation plans that discourage risk-taking. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Labour. Most new jobs high-quality: CIBC report

A new look at Canada's labour market reveals the first six months of 2012 has seen a big improvement in the quality of jobs that have been created.

It is already known that Canada's economy churned out 155,000 new jobs in the first half of this year, more than economists had expected, the CIBC says in its latest report on employment quality.

But the bigger surprise is that most of those jobs have been of the full-time and high-paying variety.

That is a break from past CIBC reports on job quality, which have tended to show that a higher proportion of employment created since the 2008-09 recession has tended to be in the lower-paying services sector, or has been part-time or self-employment.

The report cautions job quality is expected to fall back in the second half of this year, but for the moment there is something to celebrate in an overall glum economic landscape, said Benjamin Tal, CIBC's deputy chief economist.

1 The Blacker the Berry.... RIM CEO Thorsten Heins announced that the BlackBerry 10 launch will be delayed until the first quarter of 2013. Surely, this is a shrewd ploy to lure iPhone and Android producers into a false sense of success during peak purchasing season before unleashing their messianic unicorn upon an economically depressed public just teeming with buyer's remorse. That'll show 'em.

2 1,000 words. There is nothing funny about the wildfires that ravaged the western U.S., but pictures of the disaster captured by astronauts have given the International Space Station the distinction of "most expensive camera" in the universe.

3 Reverse psychology. U.S. Republican presidential candidate Mitt Romney was booed at the NAACP annual conference, and responded by saying, "If I don't stand for what they want, go vote for someone else." Nice strategy. I wonder if that could become his new campaign slogan.

4 Katie's cruisin'. Kudos to the recently divorced Holmes and Tom Cruise for achieving a settlement that was quicker and more mature than a Kim Kardashian marriage.

5 Career legacy. After eight Oscar nominations, four Golden Globes, a BAFTA and an Emmy, 80-year-old, Royal Academy-trained Peter O'Toole, announced his retirement from showbiz this week. His statement triggered an immediate outcry on Twitter: "OMG. That's the dude that played the voice of Anton in Ratatouille."

6 Behind the mask. Rock star Marilyn Manson responded to a rumour that he was dating Avril Lavigne by saying, "F–k that, she's Canadian," demonstrating once again the fine line between musical genius and complete ignoramus.

7 Is this love? Among Caribbean coral reefs, there exists a small species of "gnathiids" that will now be known as Gnathia marleyi. Paul Sikkel, marine biologist at Arkansas State University, says he named them after Bob Marley because they are "a natural wonder and as uniquely Caribbean." I am sure that Bob's family cannot fathom a greater honour than to have his name attached to a parasitic crustacean blood feeder that infests fish.

8 Spaced out. Astronomers using NASA's Hubble Space Telescope discovered a fifth moon orbiting Pluto. I have absolutely no idea what this means.

9 Muppet music. Can you tell me how to get to Sesame Street? Well, it seems that all you need is a massive hit like Canadian sensation Carly Rae Jepsen's Call Me Maybe. A snack-inspired version entitled Share It Maybe, performed by the legendary Cookie Monster has received thousands of YouTube hits this week, solidifying the 45-year-old muppet's place in the annals of popular music. Eat your heart out, Marilyn Manson.

10 Calling all students. If you're not backpacking through Europe, make up an excuse for whatever lame internship you've taken and hop on a flight to Jamaica in the next few days. It's Reggae Sumfest with R. Kelly, Lady Saw, Damian Marley, Trey Songz and more. You're young. You may not remember it, but you won't regret it. Irie.

Alabama dogs play it cool

DAVE MARTIN/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unleashed in the U.S.

Dog days of summer have just begun

An unidentified Great Dane inspects one of the many fountains at the new Alabama Dream Dog Park in Alabaster, Ala., Thursday.

The $500,000 US renovation creates a dog park with many unique features, which include custom-designed splash pads to keep dogs cool during hot Alabama summers, a fetch football field with fire hydrant goal posts, a hill that dogs and owners can climb together to enjoy the view, a doggie-wash station, and an adventure path with tunnels and agility hoops, among others.

The concept for the park came from former Shelby Humane Society executive director Jenny Wilson, who won the Beneful dream dog park contest.

"It's so much more than I could have ever imagined," Wilson told local media after taking her dogs Honey Belle and Baxter, through the park. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A dog runs through the fountains at the new Alabama Dream Dog Park. The park is complete with tables and water fountains — some tall enough for humans and some low enough for dogs.

Ice Age: Continental Drift suffers from a lazy script. HANDOUT

Critique

Children weigh in…

Forget what the crabby adults have to say, Ice Age: Continental Drift is aimed squarely at the kids. My sons — junior film critics Jack,5, and Elliot, 3, — joined Richard and I at a recent screening and had plenty to say about the experience. "I liked the 3D," said Jack, who usually tosses his glasses out of frustration mid-way through the film. As for little Elliot, at one point during Ice Age's relentless slapstick shtick, he laughed, shook his head, turned to me and in a voice loud enough that the entire theatre could hear him said "Dad, this is REALLY stupid!" Out of the mouths of babes….

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Ice Age pleases kids, freezes out adults

Tired and trite. Latest installment of this family franchise has the reviewers counting the years till these characters are extinct

Richard: Chris, I loved the Simpsons short that plays before Ice Age. It's a funny, gently paced thriller for kids with jokes that parents and film geeks will love. In fact, I wanted more of that and less of Ice Age. The main feature is nicely animated but is saddled with a story so by-the-book it feels like it would have been old hat even in the ice age. That's my take. You, however, had two of the world's youngest film critics with you. What did they think?

Chris: Indeed, I brought my sons Jack, 5, and Elliot,3, with me and as you'll read in the sidebar, they were more impressed than I. Now, I'd watch a movie about lawn darts if it was in 3D, so my eyeballs were pleased by all the razzle dazzle. But other than that … Ice Age left me kinda numb. And here's my biggest problem with the picture and all of the Ice Age films … Manny the Mammoth.... you can't see his mouth. He has NO expressions. The dullest animated hero in recent memory.

RC: Manny's not aided by a lazy script that feels like it was run through the Cliché-O-Matic. The theme — family and friends mean everything — has been done before and better. Couple that with jokes that come out of nowhere and feel tacked on, and you're left with a movie that is as lifeless as Manny's expression.

CA: Absolutely. It also doesn't help that dead-eyed Manny is voiced by Ray Romano, whose velvet tones remind me of a post-pubescent Kermit the Frog. The rest of the cast phones it in too (maybe literally!), obviously due in part to that sleepy script you've mentioned. The only one that registers is Game of Thrones' Peter Dinklage, who is monstrous and scuzzy as the pirate monkey Caption Gutt.

RC: Agreed. Dinklage is horrifying and scuzzy, in a good way. Also horrifying: they still have 20,000 years of history and sequel potential to go.

CA: Until they end up in space, right? But our gripes won't stop the kids from dragging their parents to it this weekend.

Synopsis

The movie begins the saber-toothed squirrel Scrat's efforts to protect his only possession — his prized acorn — lead to the great Continental Drift. As the earth shifts, woolly mammoth Manny (Ray Romano), Sid the sloth (John Leguizamo) and Diego the smilodon (Dennis Leary) get separated from their families. Their journey to reunite with their kin puts them directly into the path of ape pirate Captain Gutt (Peter Dinklage). Chris Alexander sits in for Mark Breslin.

Christian Bale needs a moment alone

The Dark Knight Rises. Actor dishes about how he overcame his claustrophobia in the name of fighting crime and saving Gotham

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News in Hollywood

For Christian Bale, who's played Batman three times now for Christopher Nolan, creating a role that redefined both the legendary character and the British actor, the last time he put on the bat suit was a lot like the first time — and in each instance he needed a bit of alone time. "The first time I ever put on the actual one myself I thought, 'Oh, Chris has to (re-do) the cast.' Because the claustrophobia was just unbelievable," Bale remembers.

"I stood there and I thought, 'I can't breathe, I can't think, this is too tight, this is squeezing my head, I'm gonna panic, I'm about to have a nervous breakdown, a panic attack right this second.' So I said, 'Can everyone just leave me alone for 20 minutes?'"

The break did the trick, as Bale estimates he's spent 21 months of his life under Batman's cowl — with some improvements over the years, like giving Bale the ability to take it off whenever he needed. And when the final day of shooting in the suit arrived — a scene that paired Bale with Anne Hathaway's Catwoman on a New York City rooftop — Bale found himself feeling a similar need for privacy, though for a different reason.

"I was wrapped, and I just went down and sat in a room and I realized, 'This is it. I'm not gonna be taking this cowl off again,'" Bale says. "So again, I said, 'Can you please leave me alone for 20 minutes?' and sat with that moment. It was a very important moment for me. It's been a very important character, and the movies themselves have changed my life and changed my career."

Speaking of time, Bale couldn't really tell you how long anything took to film in the massive superhero flick because he intentionally wasn't paying attention — in order to save his sanity. "You know, there's such long schedules on these movies. I don't like to think about time, otherwise I get depressed," he says. "So I just sort of do it as though it's like one day at a time for me. Because if you look and go, 'Oh, only 124 days left,' it gets tricky to get up at four in the morning."

Hathaway happy her claws took spotlight

Workouts. Catwoman actress says the focus was never on how sexy she looked, but rather on how she could fight

NED
Metro World News in Hollywood

Anne Hathaway hit the gym the entire time she was filming. HANDOUT

When Anne Hathaway signed on to play Catwoman for The Dark Knight Rises, she quickly found out that the bar for physical preparation had already been set pretty high by her new co-star, Joseph Gordon-Levitt.

"When I got the part, Chris (Christopher Nolan) had called me into his office and said, 'OK, so, there's going to be a lot of fighting, and when we did Inception, Joe got in really good shape. Joe went to the gym for months so when he did his fight sequence he did all of his own fighting. I really liked that," Hathaway remembers.

"And I went, 'Gotcha, I'm reading between the lines here.' And I just went to the gym and came out when we wrapped."

But unlike with other female superhero roles, Hathaway relished the feeling that the focus was never on how sexy she looked.

"I don't know what other actresses have gone through, (but) I feel like sometimes there's a mandate that comes to you, an ideal of how you have to look, and the way I was treated on this movie was, 'learn how to do what you need to do, and then however you look that's the way the character looks,'" she says.

"And I just felt, as a woman, very protected in that way."

Taika Waititi (Eagle vs Shark) stars and directs this 1980's-set coming-of-age New Zealand comedy about a young Michael Jackson-obsessed Maori whose life flips after his delinquent dad shows up tracking buried treasure. While the film is quite comedic (including reenacted fantasy scenes of some of Jacko's hit videos) Waititi anchors the charmer with a compelling bit of emotional potency.

Director. Martin Donovan

Stars. Martin Donovan, David Morse

A witty and well-paced thriller starring Martin Donovan as a playwright who gets haplessly holed up with a gun-toting neighbour (the excellent David Morse). Besides being a witty deconstruction of hostage-film clichés, Collaborator offers some interesting observations about the writing process itself — in the end it's a film about how art imitates life rather than the other way around.

Drama

Beasts of the Southern Wild

Director. Benh Zeitlin

Stars. Quevenzhane Wallis, Dwight Henry

This critically praised indie is shot with a poet's eye but it's not poetry. Director Benh Zeitlin's debut slams together artful mysticism and calculated naturalism to create a dubious sort of hybrid. Six-year-old Quevenzhane Wallis holds the fort as a motherless sprite endangered by a storm but the other characters are blurry and the relentless reaching for "powerful" effects grows tiring by the end.

Neil Young Journeys

Director. Jonathan Demme

For their third collaboration, Neil Young and director Jonathan Demme (who made Stop Making Sense, one of the greatest concert films of all time with Talking Heads) find themselves in Young's hometown, Omemee, Ont., before heading out on a trip down memory lane (and the trans-Canada) on their way to Young's gig at Massey Hall last May. Interspersing shots from the road with selections from Young's two-night stand, Demme uses his intimate access to literally get up close and personal, using incredibly tight shots. As with so many things Neil Young related, it's unclear what the artist's intentions are. But with performances this stunning, it's worth the effort.

Fat Kid Rules the World

Director. Matthew Lillard

Stars. Matt O'Leary, Jacob Wysocki

Based on a young adult novel, actor Matthew Lillard's directorial debut is a small film about a big kid. Troy, an overweight high-school student fraught with social problems, tries to step in front of a bus, only to be saved by an enigmatic drug addled punk rocker named Marcus. Much to Troy's surprise Marcus insists they start a band together as well as providing the homeless teen with the occasional meal or floor to sleep on. Lillard expertly captures typically-awkward teenage life, without succumbing to base stereotypes.

IAN GORMELY

Drama

Union Square

Director. Nancy Savoca

Stars. Tammy Blanchard, Mira Sorvino, Michael Rispoli

Union Square is a kitchen-sink drama that explores the dysfunctional relationship between two sisters. Lucy (Mira Sorvino) is a train wreck. Bipolar and recently dumped by her married boyfriend, she lands on her estranged sister's (Tammy Blanchard) doorstep. Set primarily in the sister's NYC apartment, the movie is a raw exploration of their relationship, as these two thin-skinned characters struggle to accept themselves and one another. The improvised, confessional feel of the movie veers into John Cassavetes territory, but the story, despite fine performances from all involved, ultimately doesn't connect.

Sound Check

Convert to the cult of music streaming

SOUND CHECK
Alan Cross
scene@metronews.ca

First, I ignored it. Then I fought back. Now it's sucked me in.

I swore I would always buy vinyl, CDs and downloads. Physical possession was the only way to go. The idea of "renting" music repulsed me. However, now I'm in its thrall. I can't imagine ever doing without it.

It happened when I was sitting with the dog at Starbucks one Sunday morning, breezing through emails. One of the newsletters I get raved about a particular song — an album track — from a super-obscure indie band from Los Angeles. "You MUST hear this song," the newsletter said.

In the old days, I'd have to write down the artist and album information and hope to remember it the next time I planned a visit to the record store. If I did remember, if it was in stock and if I was willing to part with $20, I could hear for myself what this reviewer was talking about. But on this particular Sunday morning, I simply switched to a streaming app and launched a search for the band and the song. I was listening to it within 20 seconds. I tapped to acknowledge that I wanted to download a file of the song to my iPhone so I could listen even when I wasn't connected.

It wasn't until the dog and I were halfway home that I realized I'd had a revelatory consumer experience. Such instant musical gratification. Mind. Blown.

Since then, the dog and I have discovered an insane amount of new music. The second I hear about something new, I look for it on a streaming service. The cost? Just my $10/month subscription.

Yes, if I stop paying, all this music goes away. That's why I still buy the music I really want to keep. The problem is that streaming has led me to buy even more CDs and vinyl than before. I'm a streaming convert. Try it. You'll get into more new music that you ever imagined.

Hot Chip happy to let music do the talking

In Our Head. Owen Clarke speaks to Metro about not forcing things, their new album and avoiding the traps most musicians make

HEIDI PATALANO
Metro World News

Owen Clarke is known for his moves. The Hot Chip multi-instrumentalist can be found in a host of YouTube videos, getting down to his band's beats while slapping the bass or rocking the keys at a gig.

There's even a Facebook page called Owen Clarke — Dancing King. While somewhat modest about his own dance floor capabilities, Clarke does admit there's a very special thing that happens when it comes to playing a gig.

"It's this energy meeting — it sounds sort of hippie-ish but it is kind of true — people come together to see a thing, you go there to do a thing and so, you know, it's set up for a good thing from the outset," he says.

Musicians Al Doyle, Alexis Taylor and Joe Goddard of the band Hot Chip perform at Coachella. KARL WALTER/GETTY IMAGES

Hot Chip made their mark back in 2006 for creating an irresistibly danceable combination of R&B and synth pop on The Warning, and three albums later, with the recent release of In Our Heads, the band finds themselves still keeping the energy level buoyantly blissful.

"Whenever we make a record, we are the same people and we have the same sort of agenda every single time," Clarke says. "There's no sort of plan. There never is, which is how we've ridden our luck for so long, I think ... (the songs) just turned out the way they did. That's not a great illumination in terms of an answer but we were just feeling a bit uptempo and happy. It's quite nice when things can turn out like that."

The band's playful sensibility has always been particularly notable when it comes to their music videos, in which more often than not, anyone from a fake boy band to award-winning actor Terence Stamp will be singing their lyrics to the camera. But why have stand-ins when Clarke in particular is such a smooth mover?

"There's a perception of who we are that isn't very close to the actual truth of who we are because we've never put up a front of being guys who are in a rock band, or being aloof and very synthy, or being anything in particular, regardless of what anyone may or may not think," Clarke says. "It's nice to let the music speak for itself and let the video tell the story that it does with other people."

Does loyalty mean better insurance rates?

Drivers should look past loyalty as a means to saving money.

Many drivers assume that staying with the same insurance company for a long period of time leads to the best car insurance rates. While this may be true for some people who have a good driving profile and obtain loyalty discounts, it is not always the case. The rates charged by different insurance companies to insure the same driver, with the same car, for the exact same coverage, can vary by hundreds and even thousands of dollars. And with so many insurance companies providing car insurance in Ontario, odds are you are not currently insured with the company that offers the best rate for your driving profile.

One of the ways insurance companies try to keep customers around is by offering perks to loyal customers. Often insurance customers believe that by looking for a new insurance policy they will wind up paying more since they'll have to forfeit any loyalty discounts and perks they have earned. In many cases, however, a lower rate with another insurance company could save you money because the rate difference offsets any earned loyalty rewards from your current company. There is no risk to taking some time to shop around and get insurance quotes. And your current insurer will not know that you are looking, unless you tell them. Comparing car insurance quotes will give you a better idea of how your current rate stacks up in comparison with what is available at another company.

Insurance quoting sites like InsuranceHotline.com can help by providing an independent, unbiased rate comparison from a network of over 30 insurance companies to find you a lower rate available for your profile.

You don't owe loyalty to your insurance provider. You owe money.

And possibly too much.

Your loyalty discount may not save you as much as you think. Insurance rates can vary by hundreds, even thousands of dollars. But InsuranceHotline.com will always provide the lowest rates available within our network of over 30 premier insurance companies.

Visit InsuranceHotline.com today and experience a fast, free and easy service that's loyal to your wallet, not your insurance provider.

Degrassi kids are back for 12th season

Cristine Prosperi as Imogen Moreno in Degrassi. CAITLIN CRONENBERG

New episodes. Metro talks to actress Cristine Prosperi about why the TV show continues to rake in viewers

scene@metronews.ca

While the rest of the television world is taking the summer off, the cast of Degrassi are amping up for the premiere of their 12th season, which continues to chronicle the exploits of the famed Eastside school's students.

"I feel like every Canadian teenager has watched Degrassi," says Cristine Prosperi, who plays senior Imogen Moreno on the long-running series. "It's a huge thing for everyone."

Over the years, Degrassi has enjoyed incredible success, especially here in Canada. Its current incarnation has proved particularly tenacious thanks to a steady flow of new characters that cycle in as old ones graduate.

A long-time fan of the program, Prosperi chalks up the series' longevity to its continued commitment to portraying teens as real people instead of the glossy Hollywood-version showcased on so many teen dramas.

"Nothing is fake, nothing is over the top," she says. "Teens relate to us so much because it's not glamorous at Degrassi."

Prosperi grew up in Newmarket and has worked in television since her debut in a Unico pasta commercial at age three. She originally auditioned for the role of Katie Matlin, but was brought back to read for Imogen instead.

Still in Grade 12 when she was cast, she found out after her phone started vibrating in class and she retreated to the bathroom to answer the call from her agent. "I was crying the whole day," she says.

The summer season was shot quickly in order to accommodate myriad plot lines. Multiple new episodes will air throughout the week.

And while the series' July 16 premiere focuses on the Drew-Bianca-Katie love triangle, relegating Imogen to the background, Prosperi promises we'll learn more about Imogen's home life and "why she is the way she is" over the summer's 20-episode run.

Premiere

To coincide with the premiere of Degrassi's 12th season, the nation's music station is holding a free screening event at its 299 Queen St. West headquarters, including special episodes of New.Music.Live. and Today's Top 10.

- The event will feature members of the cast who will be signing autographs and taking part in a Q&A session prior to the season premiere.
- To be part of the New. Music.Live. audience or for more info, check out muchmusic.com.

Weaver makes TV debut with Political Animals

As the ambitious and coldly calculating Elaine Barrish, Sigourney Weaver oozes a steely determination to get the job done in Bravo's new series Political Animals.

This, despite the moral quagmire the failed presidential candidate-turned-secretary of state faces at every turn — including from within her own dysfunctional family.

Weaver says it's a juicy TV part she relished diving into, even as she juggles several weighty film and stage projects, including two expected Avatar sequels.

"One of the reasons I wanted to do the show was it portrayed a woman who is like a breath of fresh air, frankly, in the White House," Weaver says.

"She says what she thinks, she's not afraid to ask questions, she has a very strong moral compass, she never loses sight of the big picture and she doesn't play all these games that a lot of the entrenched politicians play. And she really hates these games."

Political Animals marks Weaver's first regular TV role.

There's a healthy dose of skepticism and distrust among the embattled dealmakers of Political Animals, which show creator Greg Berlanti has acknowledged is partly inspired by Hillary Clinton's own rocky road to national office.

Quoted

"I wanted to see someone getting it done who is a woman, and I can't be alone in that feeling. How can that not be a good thing for us to see?"

Sigourney Weaver on her hopes the series will offer a glimpse of what could be

Elaine's fractured inner circle includes her womanizing ex-husband Bud Hammond (CiarDan Hinds), whose massive popularity as former president of the United States drove Elaine's hard-fought campaign just shy of snagging the presidential primary.

The six-part series kicks off with Elaine conceding defeat to her scrappy rival Paul Garcetti (Adrian Pasdar), who ultimately takes office and appoints her secretary of state.

Then there's Elaine's drug-addicted gay son (Sebastian Stan), another straightlaced but ambitious son who serves as her right-hand man (James Wolk) and a feisty former Vegas showgirl mother (Ellen Burstyn) with a tendency to speak her mind, even when reporters are around.

Complicating matters are Oval-office dealings that take place behind her back and a muckraking newspaper reporter who has uncovered a dark family secret Elaine is eager to suppress.

Weaver says none of this drama compares to the actual antagonism that seems to pervade the real Washington.

On a professional note, Weaver says her venture into TV has allowed her to explore a character in a way she hasn't been able to do on the big screen.

She describes the film sets she's been on as "very much a director's medium and it's a director's vision."

"There isn't a lot of extra stuff. And with TV, it changes its shape. There's a lot more detail about life than you ever get in movies," she says, noting Political Animals will jump around in time and include a look at Elaine's time as First Lady.

The movie star says she was "floored" to be offered the part because so many of her past roles have been women "sort of on the periphery of things."

More stripping may be in the cards for Channing

Channing Tatum isn't surprised his semi-autobiographical male stripper movie, Magic Mike, is a success — and he's already got a sequel planned.

"We're working on the concept now," he tells the U.K. edition of Glamour magazine. "We want to flip the script and make it bigger."

Meanwhile, Tatum is more than happy to throw his hat into the ring when it comes to who should star in the film adaptation of the steamy hit novel Fifty Shades of Grey — under the condition that he co-star with real-life wife Jenna Dewan. "I'd only be allowed if my wife was Ana. She's read the books so I don't think she'd be impressed if she couldn't be Ana," he tells the magazine.

More trouble in the Moore household?

MONICA WEYMOUTH
scene@metronews.ca

After her split from Ashton Kutcher and subsequent rehab trip, Demi Moore has been spotted out and about looking pretty great — or at least alive enough. But it seems not all is well with her family just yet.

"There's a wedge between Demi and her girls," a source tells Us Weekly of her daughters, Rumer, Scout and Tallulah.

According to the source, Demi didn't speak to them at Tallulah's high school graduation last month.

"Demi is beside herself over the situation," a family friend tells RadarOnline.com. "She hasn't spoken to Scout, Rumer or Tallulah for weeks now, they won't return any of her calls, emails or texts."

Rich people, take note: If your teenagers don't need your car for the weekend, it's quite possible that you will never hear from them again.

Spider Man vs. Edward Cullen

Andrew Garfield might be young and British with hair you want to shove your face in, but don't compare the Amazing Spider-Man star to Robert Pattinson.

"The truth is, Andrew can't stand Rob. He hates that they're put in the same category because they're both English and around the same age," a source tells Us Weekly.

"Andrew considers himself a 'serious actor' and sees Rob as the equivalent of a cheesy boy-bander because of Twilight."

Spider-Man vs. Edward Cullen: Why do we have a feeling this ends in a snuggle pile of fangs?

A princess for the Queen?

Queen Latifah is looking to start a family via adoption, she revealed on a visit to The View this week.

"I'm actually kind of working on that," the actress/rapper said when asked by Barbara Walters if she'd ever consider adopting a child.

"I think I saw one of those specials — you know, those movies of the week. And it was like, I just always wanted to bring a child home."

I like ice cream as much as the next guy, but I never thought there would ever be a reason to want to make my own — until I read Ice Cream Happy Hour ($16.95, Ulysses Press) by Valerie Lum and Jenise Addison.

Though you'll need an ice cream maker to create these ladies' boozy treats from scratch, their simple, spirit-laden recipes are amazingly easy to create and open the door to dozens of cocktail-inspired desserts that scream summer.

If that all sounds too much like a Food Network series gone wrong, you can cheat your way to spiked frozen treats through a gazillion Internet recipes that mix pre-made ice cream with every imaginable combination of liqueurs and hard liquor.

Vodka is the foundation of many a creamy creation and one with a bit of guts adds to the glory of any icy, adult-oriented endeavor.

The Poles know their way around a neutral spirit and, apparently, so does actor Bruce Willis. Mr. Die Hard is a part owner of Sobieski ($22.62 - $27.98), Poland's top ranked, rye-based vodka that combined a muscular expression of flavour with a well-rounded, grainy personality.

A whole new way to scream for ice cream

Summertime Ice Cream Sandwiches.

Add a bit more pizzazz to your fave frozen treats with cookies and sweet toppings

1. Heat the oven to 350 F. Line 2 baking sheets with parchment paper or lightly coat with cooking spray.

2. Place 1/4 cup of the sugar in a shallow dish or pie pan. In a large bowl, use an electric mixer to beat together the remaining 1 cup of sugar, the butter, vanilla, almond extract and rum until light and fluffy. Add the egg, scraping down the sides of the bowl and mixing until well incorporated. Stir in the flour, salt and baking powder.

3. Scoop the dough by the tablespoonful and form into balls. One at a time, place each ball of dough in the sugar in the shallow dish. Roll around until all sides are coated. Arrange the sugared balls of dough on the prepared baking sheet, leaving 2 inches between them to allow for spreading. Bake for 12 to 15 minutes, or until the edges are just beginning to brown. Allow to cool on the baking sheet.

4. While the cookies cool, remove the sherbet or sorbet and ice cream from the freezer. One at a time, microwave for 10 to 15 seconds, or just long enough to soften. In a large bowl, combine the two flavours and use a rubber spatula to swirl them together. Do not overmix or completely blend them.

5. Overturn 1 cookie and place about 1 tablespoon of the ice cream mixture on it. Top with a second cookie and gently squeeze together. Return to the freezer until firm. If not serving right away, wrap tightly in plastic wrap and store in the freezer. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

3 LIFE

Celebrate

A day just for frozen goodness

If you're looking for more of a reason to enjoy everyone's favourite summer treat, consider that this Sunday is National Ice Cream Day. Invented in 1984 by American president Ronald Reagan (who actually declared all of July National Ice Cream Month and the third Sunday in July National Ice Cream Day), the festivities have spread to Canada. Reagan recognized the popularity of ice cream in the United States (90 per cent of the nation's population consumes ice cream) and stated that these two events should be observed with "appropriate ceremonies and activities." Meanwhile, according to data from the NPD Group, Canadians ate more than 121 million servings of ice cream at quick-service restaurants in 2011.

Raonic exits early from tune-up tourney

Canadian Milos Raonic was ousted from the Hall of Fame Tennis Championships on Thursday, losing 6-3, 6-3 to Germany's Benjamin Becker in the second round. Becker was able to beat third-seeded Raonic at his own game, firing seven aces to Raonic's five. Raonic, from Thornhill, was using the tournament as a tune-up for the London Olympics. Jays ink Encarnacion to 3-year extension

MLB. Once-struggling slugger having a great season in Toronto

Edwin Encarnacion's time with the Toronto Blue Jays appeared to be over after a rough 2010 season that saw him demoted to triple-A and ultimately put on waivers.

Two years later, Encarnacion is one of the Blue Jays' most potent weapons in a lineup loaded with offensive potential. And now there is no more uncertainty concerning his immediate future.

The Blue Jays rewarded Encarnacion for his dramatic turnaround Thursday, signing the first baseman to a three-year deal worth $27 million US with a $10-million club option for the 2016 season.

"I'm very happy to be part of this organization for the next three years," Encarnacion said at a news conference. "That's why I signed to stay here. I love this country, I love Toronto and I love the fans."

"We've really seen (Encarnacion) grow as a player, grow as someone who quietly leads in the clubhouse as well that's very well-respected," said Blue Jays general manager Alex Anthopoulos. "The ability's always been there. I think it finally started to show at the end of last year and currently now."

Things have not always been smooth for Encarnacion through his eight-year career. Originally a member of the Reds, Encarnacion arrived in Toronto as part of the trade that sent third baseman Scott Rolen to Cincinnati on July 31, 2009.

He struggled at the start of the 2010 season, and after a particularly disappointing West Coast road trip he was placed on outright waivers on June 20. He cleared waivers because of his $5-million contract and was sent to triple-A Las Vegas.

He ended up finishing the 2010 season with the Blue Jays, but was waived in the off-season and claimed by Oakland. When the A's didn't offer him a contract, he returned to the Blue Jays as a free agent.

It's been a winning relationship ever since.

"This game is not easy, it has its ups and downs," Encarnacion said. "They sent me down, I passed waivers, but that's part of this game.... That's why you always have to keep your head up, keep working hard and don't worry about (what you can't control)." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Breakout year

The 29-year-old native of La Romana, Dominican Republic, is having a breakout offensive year for the Blue Jays.

- He is currently batting .295 with 23 home runs and 58 RBIs.
- He is currently tied for fourth in the American League in home runs, fifth in slugging percentage (.595) and seventh in RBIs.

Pierre Rolland wins toughest day at the Tour

Pierre Rolland of France won the hardest Alpine stage in the Tour de France on Thursday, and Bradley Wiggins dusted defending champion Cadel Evans in the final climb to extend his overall lead.

Rolland gave the Europcar team its second straight stage win after the 148-kilometre 11th stage from Albertville that ended with a gruelling ascent to the ski resort of La Toussuire.

"I'd been dreaming about this stage for six months.... I got all sorts of messages this morning saying 'It's your turn, it's your turn,'" said Rolland. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CFL EXTRA POINTS
Dan Toth
toronto@metronews.ca

Columnist Dan Toth explains why — despite their coach's claims — the Lions are still No. 1, who is the early front-runner for coach of the year and which player is gunning for vengeance in Week 3

Photos by The Canadian Press, Torstar News Service

No one buying Benevides' game of possum

Mike Benevides, coach of the Grey Cup champion Lions, is pumping the Saskatchewan Roughriders' tires, calling them the CFL's best team prior to the battle of 2-0 squads on Saturday in Regina. Nice try, but the Lions are clearly the best until someone knocks them off.

Glenn gives Stamps chance to rebound

The Stamps' off-season acquisition of veteran backup Kevin Glenn, who has twice passed for 5,000 yards, seemed relatively insignificant at the time as the team placed its fate firmly on new starter Drew Tate's shoulders. Who could have imagined one of those shoulders wouldn't hold up through two games, leaving the offence in Glenn's hands for the next few weeks.

Chamblin a force to be reckoned with on Riders' sideline

The 2-0 Roughies face their best test of the young season by hosting the undefeated Lions on Saturday. An upset win and a 3-0 record would certainly be impressive following a 5-13 campaign in 2011, and would likely trigger early-season lobbying for new man Corey Chamblin as coach of the year.

Burris looking for last laugh vs. Toronto

The Argos might face their toughest test of the season, believe it or not, in a Week 3 showdown with the 0-2 Ticats, obviously hungry for a win. Tabbies QB Henry Burris appeared to be headed to Toronto in the off-season before the Ricky Ray-Steven Jyles trade was hatched, leaving Burris in a less attractive situation in Hamilton. Burris would love to make the Argos regret their decision, at least for one night.

TFC's choice to keep Silva paying off

MLS. Young forward proving his potential after public-intoxication incident in Houston

Luis Silva is making the most of his second chance.

Less than a month ago, the Toronto FC rookie was one of three players who embarrassed the club by being charged with public intoxication after a brawl outside a Houston bar.

Today, Silva is coming off the best performance of his young career. He notched his first Major League Soccer goal with a lovely finish, sprung teammate Ryan Johnson for two breakaways and was a force the entire match as the Reds defeated the Vancouver Whitecaps 3-2 Wednesday.

"We've had some ups and downs to say the least," new coach Paul Mariner said of Silva, who he first scouted at the University of California Santa Barbara before the Reds made him their top pick, fourth overall, in the 2012 MLS SuperDraft.

While the other two players involved in the June 18 incident in Houston — forward Nick Soolsma and defender Miguel Aceval — are no longer part of the club's plans, Silva clearly is. The 23-year-old midfielder from Los Angeles has regularly come off the bench as a substitute since that night. By contrast, Soolsma was released on Wednesday and Aceval has not played in the last 10 games.

Some of that is no doubt due to the unique circumstances around Silva's situation. Barely 24 hours before that night in Houston, which he later called "a stupid mistake," the young man learned his father, Saul Silva Segui, 52, died two weeks after suffering a stroke and never regaining consciousness.

Grieving, Silva went overboard on a night off — Father's Day. He later apologized to his teammates and vowed that "will never happen again."

While Mariner admitted the Houston incident was "a black eye for me and a thorn in my side," he saw it as an aberration. After flying back on a red eye from his father's service, the coach brought Silva off the bench the next day against New England at BMO Field.

"He's a wonderful young man, a tremendous talent," Mariner said. "He was hurt by what happened (in Houston) and he wants to do well."

TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Ricky Ray throws against the Stampeders last Friday in Toronto.
VINCE TALOTTA/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

CFL. No regrets from Ray on move to T.O.

Eric Tillman might be having second thoughts, but Ricky Ray isn't anymore.

The veteran quarterback says he's settled nicely into his new life with the Toronto Argonauts, seven months after Tillman's stunning decision to send Ray east after nine seasons in Edmonton. Earlier this week, the Eskimos general manager told an Edmonton radio station that if he could do it all over again he probably wouldn't have made the trade.

That sentiment is of little solace to Ray.

"Yeah, I've been over that for a while," Ray said with a chuckle following practice Thursday. "You know, it's football.

"I was lucky to play in one place for so long. The trade happened and, yeah, I was a little shocked and upset in the beginning, but throughout the off-season I was definitely really excited to come here and work with (Argos rookie head coach) Scott Milanovich."

Tillman has come under heavy criticism in Alberta since trading Ray — one of the most accurate and purest passers in CFL history — in December for journeyman quarterback Steven Jyles, kicker Grant Shaw and the No. 2 selection in the 2012 CFL draft. Not only did Ray lead Edmonton to a pair of Grey Cup titles during his time there, he was also a huge fan favourite.

Horoscope

Aries | March 21 - April 20. Disputes of one kind or another are likely today and if you clash with someone in a position of power, you will come off second best.

Taurus | April 21 - May 21. As Uranus, planet of the unexpected, begins its retrograde phase, you cannot afford to take anything you see or hear at face value.

Gemini | May 22 - June 20. Good news will come your way over the next 24 hours, but can you trust it? It's possible that there is a hidden catch of some kind, or something you must do in return.

Cancer | June 21 - July 22. Don't take anything for granted or take unnecessary risks. On the work front, especially, you cannot trust colleagues and employers to be totally honest with you. Watch your back.

Leo | July 23 - Aug. 22. You'll get the chance to do something a little bit different today, something in which you would not normally be interested. Don't spend more money on it than you can afford.

Virgo | Aug. 23 - Sept. 22. The planets warn that an idea you have for improving your lot in life could actually make things worse than before. What happens this weekend will remind you of that.

Libra | Sept. 23 - Oct. 22. If you put your ego needs above everything else today, you will create resentment among partners and colleagues. Get ahead, but it must not be at other people's expense.

Scorpio | Oct. 23 - Nov. 21. You may believe that all things are possible but what happens over the next 24 hours will remind you that not everything comes easy.

Sagittarius | Nov. 22 - Dec. 21. A week or so from now, the Sun will move into one of the most positive areas of your chart. When it does, your confidence will soar.

Capricorn | Dec. 22 - Jan 20. You seem to be in a forgiving mood at the moment, but try not to give others the impression that you are going soft in your old age.

Aquarius | Jan. 21 - Feb 18. You need to accept that certain situations are too big and too complicated for you to handle on your own. Either ask for assistance or focus on things you know how to deal with.

Pisces | Feb. 19 - March 20. Life has been good to you lately. But as Uranus turns retrograde today you must prepare yourself for some kind of surprise, and it may not be a welcome one. SALLY BROMPTON
